I will try to find out which kind of reuseable containers and buckets QSDS has stored so that not everybody has to bring buckets, particularly if you are flying

I will also find a good source for the right size plastic cups, bowls and measuring devices we need, as well as the kind of plastic bags that are perfect for our needs

So this supply list will be updated several weeks prior to class.

Check the supply list again on the web site www.qsds.com to make sure you don't miss any additional information.
